RETIRED MOKENA DRUGGIST LOOKS FORWARD TO FREEDOM---WALL-EYES

ABOUT THIS — AND — ABOUT THAT

By OLIVER GEDEIST

BIG AND LITTLE—Few things at first seem as big as they may become later on. Conversely, few "big" things are immediately recognized for their real littleness, their lack of inherent importance. A little word spoken, a wrong interpretation placed upon it and repeated in that light, may end a delightful friendship. Too many worthless things cloud our minds to permit us to recognize true significances.

RUSSIA—All the pretty talk about the collapsed Moscow meeting cannot hide the ugly fact that the gulf between our two ways and aspirations is almost unsurmountable. Brute force is the intellectual spirit in Russia. We are not without political sins ourselves, but Russia could, if she would, learn to her profit, from us.

WAR—War is not wanted by any of us. War was not wanted by Hitler. He merely wanted to have his way with the world and sought to scare the world into letting him have his way. He thought his powerful military might would protect him against war. But, remember this, he HAD HIS MILITARY POWER READY WHEN WAR WAS THE ONLY WAY TO GET HIS WAY.

LESSON—There's a lesson in that for us. The fact that Hitler finally failed after bringing pain and death to millions is a poor excuse for scuttling our military might and subjecting ourselves to the almost certain attack which would follow such a catastrophe. The nitwits who would tear down our power earn only the contempt of intelligent people.

HELPLESSNESS—Last week there was a story of a teacher living near Frankfort giving a party to raise funds for a burned child. That's something worth reporting. A little child's needs, and one out of thousands responding to the need. A movie or two missed by only a few hundred, a bit of other entertainment passed up—what insignificant things keep people from doing something that would set their hearts on fire for the sheer joy of unselfishly helping. Thank you, teacher, for making a certain light glow so much brighter.

HELPLESSNESS—In olden days, and even now among some "backward" peoples of the earth, the weak of mind, the crippled, the helpless were turned out to die. In our "Christian" age we do not do that—not exactly that way. Through taxes we provide, as well as human frailties permit, housing and some sort of care for the destitute—or some of them. But as individuals we pass reclaimable crippled children on the street with not even a pang of sorrow. How little would be required from a community to restore a helpless child—to give a little to a happy life. We are a hard-boiled people.

PROGRESS—With all of our shortcomings, we make progress, or change. Little things that are so BIG, like the teacher's party to aid a burned child, make us happy—happy that the light of love burns somewhere. Maybe some time that sort of sacrificial living will become popular. But do not hold your breath until it happens.

BEAUTY—But beauty time is here, soft winds sighing through the trees, bees buzzing, birds building and mating, happy little colors getting ready to burst out into beauty. Nature putting on its best dress. Truly, even amid all our shortcomings, it's a time to rejoice.

OPEN HOUSE HELD
Bobzin-Swinford post American Legion, Frankfort, reported a successful distribution of funds collected by Mrs. Ida Priami during the war days for a veterans' party, a substantial number of veterans being present to participate in the post's open house Monday night.

The following post men served the veterans: Robert Elsner, Norton Blaylock, Arthur Hurley.

Breaks Ribs in Fall
Elmer Harnack, bachelor son of Mrs. Elizabeth Harnack of Frankfort, last Sunday broke several ribs through falling while doing chores about the place. X-rays were taken. He has been going about his duties, with it is understood, further x-ray examinations planned.

Royal Neighbors to Meet
Royal Neighbors of America of Mokena will meet at 8 o'clock Tuesday evening, May 6, at the home of Mrs. Harold Warning.

Methodist Ladies To Meet
Mokena Methodist W.S.C.S. will be the guest of Mrs. Arthur Shoop in her home Thursday May 8.

Leisure and freedom to go and come when he pleases sets well in the mind of a long-time, Mokena business man now retired.

To some of us, and especially to the younger generation, 1868 was a long time ago. However, active life makes time pass unnoticed, and that's how it is with Richard Hensel, for many years operator of his pharmacy on Front street, Mokena.

Now, with business years behind him, he is thinking—well, first, he goes to New York to visit his daughters; that is, he will do that first if the call of wall-eyed pike does not get too strong. But he will go to New York, even if only as an interlude between pike fishing.

Druggist Hensel was born in Chicago in 1868, in time to be a victim of the great Chicago fire—his father's large cigar factory was wiped out, and so was the family's fortune. The Hensel family moved to Mokena where the youngster now grown to retirement began his schooling, leaving after the eighth grade to go to work. Some time after that Mr. Hensel went to Chicago to learn the drug business; this included sweeping the floor and mopping, he said, although at the time he could not see how this helped one.

Later Mr. Hensel became manager of the seven drug stores owned by his brother, Arthur Hensel, becoming president of the company upon the death of his brother.

In that early period the man who was to operate a drug business in Mokena for 25 years until his retirement learned about long hours—"went to work at 7 in the morning," he told the Editor, "and when my tasks were done I went home to sleep," which was natural, of course, seeing as how it was 11 o'clock at night, a mere 16 hours of toil.

During the earlier years his health failed and he went to the country, driving a wagon for two years. Regaining health, he returned to Chicago, entered the drug store of a cousin, at a salary of $2.50 weekly. But he was ambitious and before very long he was raised to a large salary—well, it totaled $3 a week after the raise. Later he got into the "big shot" class, for he was drawing $5 weekly. At the end of the eighth year, Mr. Hensel became a registered drug clerk.

Later he bought a drug store at Lake and Cicero and after 10 years assumed management of his brother's stores.

Thus, after 54 years in the drug business, including the 25 years in Mokena, Mr. Hensel will do what every business man dream of doing—just exactly what he pleases when he pleases.

Mr. and Mrs. Hensel are living in the Janes apartments on Front street in Mokena.

St. John's Rummage Sale Date Is Set

The Women's Guild of St. John's church, Mokena, has set May 20 as the date for the spring rummage sale, it was announced yesterday.

The auction will get underway this year at 10 o'clock on the morning of the sale and will continue with the only interruption an hour, from 11 to 12, for a hot lunch, it was stated.

The rummage sale is not a closed affair. Those welcome: everybody.

Orland PostOffice Examination Held

Post office authorities Saturday conducted an examination of candidates to fill the position of postmaster at Orland Park, a position filled by Mrs. Grace Toelle since the death of her husband last year.

Candidates taking the examination included Mrs. Toelle, Mrs. Irene Barga, Arian Yunker, Mrs. Moore.

Examination was held in Orland school Saturday morning.

PRESIDENT TO BOWL
"Set 'em up in the other alley" may soon reverberate through sedate White House halls, according to Pathfinder news magazine.

After a 44-year lay-off, Bowler Harry Truman will resume the game on a two-alley layout given the White House by a group of anonymous donors. The alleys are due to be ready by the President's 63rd birthday, May 8.

White House recreation facilities previously included a small gymnasium, a swimming pool (added by FDR), and a horseshoe pitching court (added by Truman).

The new bowling alleys will be regulation, for duck pins and ten-pins, and equipped with automatic pin-setters.

FIRST POSTWAR TRUCKS
The first completely new postwar truck models are due to make their appearance this spring, Detroit manufacturers report, barring work stoppages.

The new trucks are said to feature new streamlined cabs and integrated bodies, greater riding comfort for the driver.

ELMER COOPER RESIGNS POSITION WITH WILL HEALTH DEPARTMENT

Elmer (Doc) Cooper of Mokena, along with two of his associates of the Will county health department, was tendered a farewell dinner at the clinic in Joliet last Saturday evening by other members of the department.

The farewell dinner honored Mr. Cooper and Miss Mary Jones and C. Shaw, all of whom have resigned from the department effective May 1.

Miss Jones has been serving as visiting nurse in eastern Will county. Her plans for the future have not been announced.

Mr. Cooper has been associated with the department through the past five years. He is retiring to devote his time to the Cooper & Hostert garage on Front street, Mokena.

"Because of the pressure of private business it is necessary that I give up public activities which I have enjoyed through the past five years," was the explanation given by Mr. Cooper for his retirement.

Mokena Firemen Plan Big Evening May 10

Mokena's community volunteer fire department announces its second annual dance and social evening has been scheduled for Saturday evening, May 10.

In addition to the dance, it was announced, a pinocle tournament has been set up, so one of the officers said, "those who want to keep their feet still may work with head and hands and have a good time."

Committee in charge of the program, which will be held in Mokena school gymnasium, beginning at 9 o'clock, are, Harold Cooper, Peter Mancke, Lou Sass, Barney Hostert, Harold Miller, John Searth, Paul Lemcke, Glen Peterson, Henry Yunker.

Frankfort's Street Signs Being Placed

Frankfort street signs have arrived and are expected to be placed on the waiting posts this week. Village President George Sangmeister announced Tuesday.

Posts have been erected several months and the signs were promised for January of this year. Post holes were dug and posts set up by Frankfort Lions club, at no expense to the village, which pays for the signs and placing the signs.

Signs will be placed at each intersection of streets, in cross style, easily read from any position.

SPRAYING RASPBERRIES

Black raspberries must be sprayed twice during the year if they are to be protected from anthracnose, says A. S. Colby, horticulturist at the University of Illinois college of agriculture.

A fungicide must be sprayed on all bushes just as the leaves begin to grow in the spring, and then just before blooming. Any one of several fungicides may be used, Mr. Colby says. Bordeaux spray is generally available and is rated "pretty good" in protecting the raspberry canes. All canes should be covered by the spray.

"We can't expect to grow good black raspberries unless we do spray carefully, and at the right time," adds the horticulturist.

In 1935 there were approximately 190 Federal agencies; today there are approximately 1150.

MOTHER-DAUGHTER MEET AT ST. JOHN'S TONIGHT TO HAVE VARIED PROGRAM

Tonight is mother-daughter banquet at St. John's Evangelical and Reformed church, Mokena. A special program of music has been prepared, with a speaker coming from Blue Island to tell of her hobbies.

Mothers and daughters are expected to attend, but, it has been urged, mothers without daughters should invite some other girl to attend the evening's program.

Mrs. William J. Riemann is to be

BODY OF OKLAHOMA MAN BROUGHT TO WIFE'S HOME FOR INTERMENT

The remains of Harry Ryan, husband of a former Mokena girl, Miss Lydia Oswald, were brought from Tulsa, Okla., to Mokena for burial last Saturday. Interment was in St. John's cemetery.

Mr. Ryan died suddenly in his home in Tulsa Tuesday April 24, where he had lived for 40 years. He was a teacher of violin, and had achieved a distinguished place in the musical field. He was an instructor in and faculty member of the Tulsa University of Music and taught music in Tulsa public schools; he studied music in Juillard School of Music in New York and for a period of seven years was a guest teacher in Chicago Music

Correction!

In last week's report of appointment of village trustee committees, village of Frankfort, The News-Bulletin reported that Fred Brayner had been appointed policeman. Information received was erroneous, and, in addition, Village President George Sangmeister had informed the Editor that action had not been completed on the position of policeman. We regret that the error crept in when we were not looking.

Chairman Cooper Asks Cancer Fund

Chairman Everett Cooper of the Mokena Cancer fund campaign asks that donations be sent to him at Mokena State bank. While containers are in business places, to make small donations convenient for the public, larger donations should be made directly to Mr. Cooper, either in person or by mail, as chairman.

The cancer drive is scheduled for this week, but donations that cannot be made this week should be sent or given to Mr. Cooper next week.

Book Club Hostess To Be Mrs. Steen

Mrs. Adolph Steen will be hostess to the Mokena Book Club Friday evening May 9, it was announced this week.

Mrs. Donald Derr will review "The Little Locksmith" and "The Journal and Letters of the Little Locksmith." They are by Katherine Butler Hathaway.

Lincoln Estates PTO Speaker Named

Lincoln Estates P. T. O. has announced that the P. T. O. has secured the Rev. Lloyd Coleman, pastor of Frankfort's Methodist church, for the speaker at a meeting next Tuesday evening.

Subject: Religion and Child Guidance. Place: Lincoln Estates school. Time: 8 o'clock.

Lincoln Estates Boy Scouts Get Charter

Saturday evening Boy Scouts of the recently organized Lincoln Estates troop received their charter and Scout pins, and presented to a substantial number of visitors a demonstration of knot tying.

Among the participants in the program were Scoutmaster Robert Loyd and the Rev. William J. Riemann of Mokena, who spoke on scouting.

Outside visitors included Mr. and Mrs. David Lockwood of New Lenox, and Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Knight, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Marti, Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Kohlhaas, Miss Isabelle Harming, Mr. and Mrs. Emperor and son, all of Frankfort.

FRANKFORT BASEBALL

Frankfort baseball organizational work and practice have been scheduled for 2:30 Saturday afternoon and again at the same time Sunday afternoon.

FOUNDER OF WILD FLOWER PRESERVE PASSES AWAY ON FARM OF BOYHOOD

Bruder--Perry

In an impressive ceremony in Wellington Congregational Church, Chicago, Saturday, April 19, at noon, Miss Betty Jane Bruder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. G. Bruder of Mokena, became the bride of Forrest P. Perry of Milwaukee, Wis. The Rev. William Clark, pastor, officiated.

For the occasion the church was decorated with two tall lighted candles, Easter lilies, and a profusion of other white flowers. Organ music was employed together with processional and recessional numbers.

The bride was adorned in a blue suit, white nylon hat trimmed with apple blossoms, and she wore an all-white corsage of lily of the valley, carnations, and white violets.

The bride's sister, Miss Katherine Bruder, was maid of honor garmented with a blue suit, beige picture hat, open crown with white flowers draped style, falling from the back. Corsage was white.

The groom's friend, a Mr. Johnson of Chicago, was best man.

On Thursday preceding the wedding, associates of Miss Bruder in the Rock Island Hamilton Park offices, where she was employed, entertained the bride-to-be at a luncheon at Jack's place in Chicago, with the table settings deployed to accentuate the beauty of the forthcoming event. Those attending were Adeline Glogwartz of Tinley Park, Geraldine Burns, Mildred Ruddy, Louise Sullivan, Mrs. Loretta Teal, Catherine Vecker, and Eleanor Searle. Guests were Misses Katherine and Happy Bruder, sisters of the bride-elect.

Presents received at the luncheon included a corsage and sterling silver place setting. Other employees in the Rock Island office presented her with a three-place sterling silver set.

The groom served several years in the South Pacific and was a first lieutenant at the time of discharge. He is a graduate of Marquette University.

Mr. and Mrs. Perry left at 6 o'clock following the wedding for their new home in Brunswick, N. J., where Mr. Perry is employed.

Orland Building Set At $120,000

ORLAND PARK, May 1.—(Special)—An estimated $120,000 home construction program is underway at the present time, and it is said that other prospective developments will materially increase this figure in the near future.

Village President W.R. Schussler, Jr., made this announcement this week, together with the information that a total of 12 houses either are under construction or are to be constructed under permits issued by the village authorities.

Barney Homerding is responsible for one of the 12 homes being added to Orland Park's buildings, while Edw. A. Gee and George Gee developments are responsible for six others. The Raney subdivision is building, and Jeff Ludwig of the Capital dairy and Harold Weimer account of two others.

With anticipated future building and expansion has assumed greater importance than ever before, in the opinion of President Schussler, and he and other village authorities and citizens are following up this phase of community needs.

Last week Mr. Schussler headed a delegation attending a Palos Park meeting with Wabash officials, where the railroad presented a negative reply to request for improved service. The full transportation committee was scheduled to meet this week to make plans for future action to secure better facilities along the Wabash, it was reported.

FARM ANIMALS SUSCEPTIBLE TO MANGANESE DEFICIENCY

With the possible exception of horses, all farm animals, including poultry, are susceptible to manganese deficiency.

If animals are thrifless, unproductive and in poor general health, manganese depletion should be suspected, especially if they are fed crops raised on sandy soils, on muck soils or on any soil that has been heavily limed. Forced breeding and feeding methods tend to hasten depletion, and animals growing rapidly require more than those growing at a slow rate.

When a deficiency of this so-called minor chemical or trace mineral is recognized, supplemental amounts may be added to the ration. Due care must be exercised in this connection, however, since certain forms of manganese tend to oxidize other ingredients added to grain mixtures, notably the fats and fish oils added as vitamin concentrates.

MOTOR VEHICLE LICENSES

In the first quarter of 1942 the automobile department issued 1,590,440 motor vehicle licenses, a gain of 119,906 over the issuance for the same period last year, the secretary of state reported last week.

Clarence Martin Cleveland died at his home on Highway 30 at Wolf road, near Mokena, at 10:30 Wednesday morning following an illness lasting a year and a half.

Mr. Cleveland was more than 70 years of age and last year was some time in a Joliet hospital. He has been confined to his bed most of the time since early last year.

A native of the community, being born on the Cleveland farm, he was the son of parents who came west from New York and Vermont. He lived on the farm all his life, except for a period in Chicago, attending Joliet junior high school in his youth. Later he attended a business college in Chicago. For a number of years he was in business in Chicago.

On June 7, 1904, Mr. Cleveland was married to Miss Anna Katherine Weber of Monroe, Wis. About 10 years later they returned to the Cleveland farm, where they have since lived. He was active in public affairs and some years ago devoted a great deal of time to representing county milk producers before the Illinois legislature.

While he was still a young man, Mr. Cleveland's father operated a store in Frankfort. At that time the post office, Chelsea, was one of a very few in this area.

The Cleveland wild flower preserve is one of the outstanding beauty spots of the county, and it is understood that it will be continued and maintained as a memorial to its founder.

Mr. Cleveland was a member of the Joliet Civic club, the only non-Joliet resident member of the organization.

In addition to Mrs. Cleveland, survivors are one sister, Lillian E. Cleveland, Chicago, and one brother, William J. Cleveland of Martin, Mich.

Funeral services will be private. Burial will be in Pleasant Hill cemetery.

Scouts Advanced In Colorful Meet

Nine Boy Scouts were advanced to higher rank in a colorful ceremony, the Court of Honor, in Mokena school gymnasium Tuesday night.

The boys elevated to the higher ranks are members of Troop 40, Boy Scouts of Mokena.

Those advancing to first class were Raymon Gunhouse and Marvin Homerding; to second class, Steward Shoop, Russell Geuther, Richard Kreml, James Needham, David Kropp, Ralph Yunker, and Robert Kreml. Four boys were received as tenderfoot scouts: Wesley and Warren Nelson, Earl Rogers, and Frederick Rauch. Visitors present were parents and friends, the Girl Scouts of Mokena, and the leaders and scouts of the new troop of Lincoln Estates.

Thrilling movies on fishing, first aid, baseball, and camping were shown. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting. The Mokena troop will play the Lincoln Estates troop in a game of softball next Monday evening.

1947 OAT YIELDS WILL REFLECT SEEDING TIME

What effect will late seeding have on 1947 oat yields?

Seeding of oats is running well behind last year as a result of a late spring in Illinois. Early oat seeding is desirable, as per-acre yields usually are larger from fields seeded early than from late spring plantings.

George H. Dungan, University of Illinois agronomist, cited reports to indicate what may be expected in northern, central, and southern Illinois.

Tests show that oat yields in northern Illinois held up well for seedings made any time in April. Oats sown in May usually produced yields distinctly lower than those seeded in April.

DISEASE RESISTANT VEGETABLES

Some of the diseases that attack our vegetable crops cannot be controlled by treating the seed or by applying sprays or dusts. Among them are the soil-borne diseases, of which the cabbage yellows and fusarium wilt in tomatoes are two outstanding examples. The organisms that cause these diseases live in the soil. They enter the plants through the root hairs and are carried to the leaves and stems through the vascular system.

Fortunately plant breeders have been able to produce not only one variety, but whole series of varieties that are resistant to these soil-borne diseases. When the resistant varieties are well adapted, have good quality and yield, and are accepted by the public, there is little reason for continuing to grow the older susceptible plants. That is the present status of the yellows-resistant varieties of cabbage and fusarium-wilt-resistant varieties of tomatoes.

AS TEXAS CITY STARTED TO BURN . . . Closeup airview of the burning Monsanto works and oil dumps when the flames began creeping up to the oil depots at Texas City, Tex., during the early stages of the explosion and fire. Damage within the confines of this photograph were estimated at more than $35,000,000. Explosion at the Monsanto works ignited a pipeline which exploded, causing the oil dumps to catch fire during the early hours of the disaster.

MANY LEFT HOMELESS IN TEXAS CITY . . . When fire and explosion wrecked industrial district of Texas City, on Galveston bay, Tex., even many persons who escaped death or injury were left homeless. Miles away windows were blown in, brick walls crumbled and many persons were injured or killed by flying debris. It may be weeks before the total casualty or property loss will be known. First reports, placing the injured and dead at several thousands, have been largely confirmed.

NEW FIRES, EXPLOSIONS ADD TO HAVOC . . . With new fires and explosions adding to the carnage of the Texas City, Tex., tremendous explosion, early reports proved to fall far short of final damages to this industrial city, located on Galveston bay. Photo shows later blazes in the waterfront area. With the leveled Monsanto chemical plant in the background, wrecked cars, all blasted in the original explosion, are shown in the water-soaked area as agencies of cities, states and federal government sought to bring relief.

Double Corn Yield By Soil Management

Illinois Tests Prove Value of New Methods

Farmers can double the present 50-bushel-per-acre state average corn yields through good soil management, declares Prof. A. L. Lang, University of Illinois.

Corn yields above 100 bushels per acre are repeatedly harvested by research workers from high fertility plots at the experiment stations. At Illinois, Lang points out, the high fertility plots have averaged above 100 bushels since the use of hybrid seed.

The No. 1 problem in getting these high yields is the rebuilding of the organic matter supply of the soils. Years of "soil mining" have run down this supply, even on the rich black soil of the state. In addition, the soil supply of phosphorus and potash, vital to the growth of legumes, is badly depleted in most Corn Belt soils.

Lang outlines four steps toward rebuilding the soil:

1. Test your soil to determine the needs for lime and plant food.
2. Use of lime and fertilizers according to test to build the fertility level for the growth of legumes in the rotation.
3. Use of deep-rooted legumes, crop residues and manure to rebuild the organic matter supply. This organic matter will help aerate the soil and furnish the bulk of the nitrogen needed for crop rotation.
4. Supplementing the increased fertility of the soils with fertilizers carrying nitrogen, phosphorus and potash to permit the raising of 100-bushel corn crops.

Root Rot Resistant Oats Increase Yield

Because a disease called helminthosporium is affecting older varieties of oats in many grain states, farmers are turning to new introductions, such as Bonda and Minto, which have proven resistant to this form of root rot.

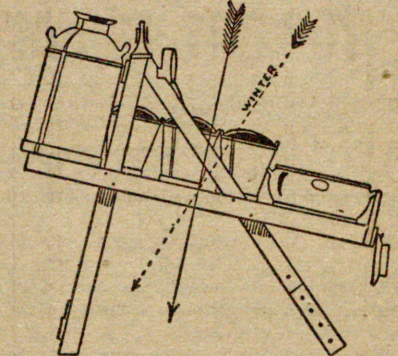

In Minnesota the Minnesota Crop Improvement association is furnishing seed of these varieties to farmers who agree to retain only half of the crop for their own use, selling the balance to farmers who will agree to grow it for certification as pure seed. Those who have received the seed of these two varieties report excellent yields and no crinkling down of the straw from disease.

Rules for Good Milk Insuring Top Profit

In order to make money with dairy cows not only must volume milk production be secured, but also it must be of good quality. To secure good milk, milk only clean, healthy cows and keep them in a well-ventilated barn. Use of only clean sterile utensils, prompt cooling of the milk and proper handling until it is used or delivered will assure good quality milk. Men handling cows also should be clean.

EDITOR'S NOTE: This newspaper, through special arrangement with the Washington Bureau of Western Newspaper Union at 1616 Eye Street, N. W., Washington, D. C., is able to bring readers this weekly column on problems of the veteran and serviceman and his family. Questions may be addressed to the above Bureau and they will be answered in a subsequent column. No replies can be made direct by mail, but only in the column which will appear in this newspaper regularly.

New Disability Rating

Veterans' service bureau has received a number of inquiries from veterans concerning the new disability rating schedule as authorized by congress.

Veterans' administration informs us that these new ratings are reviewed automatically and that it is not necessary for veterans to write in concerning their cases while they are pending. Up to March, VA has reviewed 842,000 cases out of a total of 2,692,000 compensation and pension cases subject to review under the new schedule. Under the law the review will be retroactive to April 1, 1946, so veterans need not get impatient as to whether or not their cases will be overlooked.

The new schedule, officially known as the schedule for rating disabilities, 1945 edition, permits VA to make a more accurate evaluation of veterans' disabilities than the preceding schedules did. It also provides for new types of combat wounds and tropical diseases encountered by men in the armed services, not included under the old schedules. The new schedules provide for increased ratings for certain types of disabilities and decreases in other types, but does not make any blanket change in ratings although increases far outnumber decreases.

All veterans drawing compensation for service-connected disabilities will have their cases reviewed under the new schedule.

Questions and Answers

Q. My husband is with the 24th infantry division in Japan. Could you tell me when it will come home?—Mrs. P. G., Muncie, Ind.

A. There is no way of knowing when the 24th division, as a division, will be returned to this country. It may remain on occupation duty for a year or perhaps five years. However, the men in the division under the rotation plan are returning from time to time as their service ends.

Q. Before entering the service in 1941 I did not have any fillings in my teeth, but had several filled while in the service. I was discharged in November of 1945. I need dental care on the teeth that were filled while in service. Will that be service-connected and will the government pay for it?—L. R. S., Glen Allen, Ala.

A. Very likely the government will pay for it. Had you gone to Veterans' administration within a year after your discharge there would have been no question of the service-connection since VA regards such conditions up to a year after discharge as "presumptive service-connected." You likely will now have to establish the disability as service-connected. Go to your nearest office of Veterans' administration and apply for a rating as to the disability and they will determine the ease.

Q. Can the $20 a week be stopped for refusing a job out of town or in town, and can they penalize a veteran four weeks for refusing the job?—C. J. L., Ellwood City, Pa.

A. Presumably you are referring to readjustment compensation for unemployment. Yes, the $20 a week can be stopped if you refuse to take a job which the USES of the state considers suitable for you. Veterans' administration has nothing to do with the $20 until you have been certified as on the rolls for compensation from the state organization. VA suggests that you take whatever job is offered.

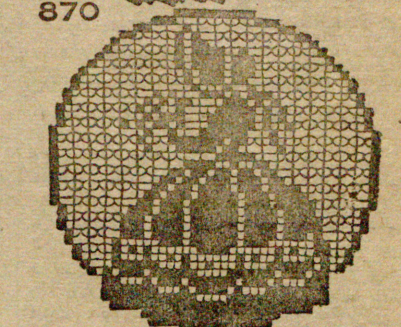

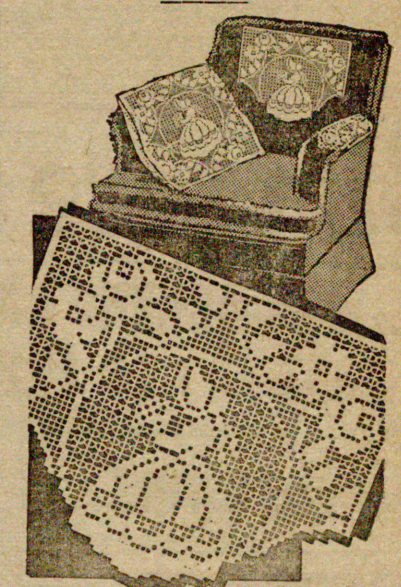

Q. We have a neighbor boy who served in the Canadian army and later in the British air force. A friend told us he would be entitled to benefits of the servicemen's readjustment act. Can you tell me if that is true?—Mrs. R. H., Pensacola, Fla.

A. Yes. Persons who served in the active military or naval service of any government allied with the United States in World War II and were citizens of the U. S. when entering such service, if otherwise qualified, are eligible for the benefits of the act and of Public Law No. 16. They must, however, be United States residents at the time claim is filed and must not be receiving the same or similar benefits from the government in whose active military service they served.

Q. Our son is studying foreign relations and world peace and it's difficult to find free literature on these subjects. Do you have any free booklets one can get, or a list one could write for?—Mrs. E. H. S., Hutchinson, Kas.

A. Suggest that you write to the division of public relations, State Department, Washington, D. C., and ask for material concerning these subjects. Your local library may have what you are looking for. Current magazines and newspapers also carry numerous articles on these subjects.

Millions Have Ended Constipation with Healthful Fresh Fruit Drink

Don't form the habit of depending on harsh, griping laxatives until you've tried this easy, healthful way millions now use to keep regular.

It's fresh lemon juice and water taken first thing in the morning—just as soon as you get up, the juice of one Sunkist Lemon in a glass of water. Taken thus, on an empty stomach, it stimulates normal bowel action, day after day, for most people.

And lemons are actively good for you. They're among the richest sources of vitamin C, which combats fatigue, helps resist colds and infections. They supply vitamins B₁ and P, aid digestion and help alkalize the system.

Try this grand wake-up drink 10 mornings. See if it doesn't help you! Use California Sunkist Lemons.

GIRLS! WOMEN! try this if you're NERVOUS

On 'CERTAIN DAYS' of Month—Do female functional monthly disturbances make you feel nervous, irritable, so weak and tired out—at such times? Then do try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to relieve such symptoms. It's famous for this! Taken regularly — Pinkham's Compound helps build up resistance against such distress. Also a great stomachic tonic!

THE FICTION CORNER

And the Little Boy Barked

By Marguerite Carriere

JIMMY JONES was in Grade Two and he could bark better than anyone else in the class. Teacher had chosen him for the part in the play.

In his exuberance, Jimmy opened his mouth and yelped.

"Jimmy," exclaimed Miss Bates, in shocked tones without turning.

The rest of the afternoon passed slowly, but finally dismissal came. "Bark, Carrots," whispered Eddy, the bad boy of the class. Jimmy ignored him.

"'Fraid, huh?" he was taunted in the cloakroom. Jimmy dropped to his hands and knees. He playfully bit at a pair of woolen legs. "Scared to bark, I mean," sneered Eddy. Jimmy opened his mouth and sharp barks tumbled into the air.

"Jimmy," came the teacher's voice, "go into the classroom."

With great dignity cloaking a beating heart, Jimmy walked stiffly into the classroom. "I'm not scared," his chin trembled softly.

Teacher came into the room. Jimmy felt her steady brown eyes pierce through his red hair.

"Well, Jimmy," she stated softly, "I've never had to scold you before this."

Jimmy said nothing, but he felt sure the teacher could hear his heart pounding. His mind started to pray.

"Very well," Miss Bates continued, "I know what you'll have to do now. You'll have to make a big promise. One that you will keep all the time. You must not let anyone know that you can bark. If you do, you cannot be in the play. Do you understand?"

Jimmy's mind stopped saying prayers.

"I'll tell you what," the teacher smiled now. "The play will be a bigger surprise if you keep your word and never bark in front of anyone at home or at school. Think how surprised your mother will be. Will you promise?"

"Yes, Miss Bates."

All the way home Jimmy was a dog. A big yellow one. He ran around telephone poles, growling fiercely. He remembered his promise. He did not bark. But he knew how. He pretended he was on a charge and whipped his horse home. He panted up the stairs and buzzed the doorbell. The secret code ring. One long, three trippy ones.

"Hello," smiled his mother, her bright face happy to greet him, "Have a nice day?"

"Yep," answered Jimmy.

"So, Jimmy," exclaimed his father, at dessert time. "I hear your school is having a concert soon."

"Are you in it?" his mother questioned.

Jimmy opened his mouth to say "yes," but closed it.

"Don't you know?" she asked, puzzled by his reaction.

"Nope," he answered. Then he added, "S'prise." He knew that they would not ask him anything more because they never made him tell his secrets.

"How about slipping over to the hospital to see Grace?" his dad asked his mother.

"Well, I'd like to, but what about Jimmy?"

"Oh, we'll be gone only an hour. Jimmy will be safe and sound."

A thrill of pride went through the boy. They thought he was grown-up. Wait until they saw him at the concert. He longed to yelp loudly and see them look surprised. But he remembered his promise. He didn't want to lose his part.

"But, Jimmy," his mother turned to him seriously. "Don't open the door if anyone comes unless it's friends. Look out the window first. We'll leave the verandah light on so you can see."

For a while after they left, Jimmy bounded around the room. "Arf, arf, arf," he barked loudly.

The doorbell rang. Jimmy tiptoed to the window. The woman from downstairs. What did she want? Should he let her in? No, she was no friend. Furthermore, he would bark and scare her. "Arf, arf, arf," he yelped in his sharpest dog tones.

Suddenly he remembered his promise. He cut his last bark short. He peered out of the window. The neighbor was starting to leave with a queer smile on her face.

It was a week later. "A lawyer's letter for you, dear," said Jimmy's mother in a puzzled tone as she kissed his dad hello.

"Breach of promise from some old girl friend," retorted Dad. "Humph, Anderson and Anderson, attorneys."

His father ripped the envelope open and scanned the letter.

"Ann, take a look at this," he exclaimed. She took the letter and studied it. "Dear sir;

"We are informed you are keeping a dog in your flat. As you are aware, your lease forbids this. Unless you rid yourself of it immediately, our client, your landlord, Mr. Stillman, intends to take steps to have you evicted."

Jimmy forgot the silence he imposed on himself whenever he wished to know anything interesting. "What does it mean?" he asked.

"They think we have a dog, dear." His mother smiled at his serious face. "Have you told anyone we have a puppy?"

"Nope, but," Jimmy thought a minute, "but, maybe I'm the dog." His mother burst out laughing, and even his dad grinned in spite of his annoyance.

JIMMY RECEIVED careful instruction always to be quiet when in the house, because that woman downstairs wanted to make them move. But he reasoned that barking was not noise, since he had practise. And he could only practise when his mother was out.

One evening, just after his mother had returned from shopping, the doorbell rang, imperative as a police knock. It was their neighbor.

"Mrs. Jones," she wheedled, "how are you?"

"Very well, and how are you?" "I dropped up for a moment, just a moment."

"Come in," Ann invited coolly. "And how is Jimmy?" cooed the voice.

"Excuse me a moment, Mrs. Dale," Ann hurried to the kitchen to remove her apron.

Jimmy watched the neighbor out of the corner of his eye. Then he began to wonder if Mrs. Dale were looking for things to steal. She was peering underneath the table, and through into the living room. But when his mother returned, she leaned back in the chair.

Just then it occurred to Jimmy why the woman had come. He threw his sweater on the floor, and walked to the middle of the room. "We ain't got no dog," he stated flatly.

The woman gulped and her chins wobbled. "Well," she stammered, "well." Then her manner changed. "I see you have trained your child, Mrs. Jones." She stalked out of the house.

THE day of the concert came. Jimmy was in a frenzy of excitement. At five o'clock, he asked for his supper. "You'll just wait, young man," replied his mother firmly. At six he choked down some bread and salad.

"Hold it, Jimmy," cried his father, as the boy dashed for his clothes.

"But I have to go early for my costume."

"Your costume?"

"I'm important," he said briefly, and in his hurry did not pause to explain, but ran out into the frosty night.

At last, bundled in his dog outfit, he stood in the wings of the stage, blinking before the strong lights. Miss Bates nodded her head. He dropped to his hands and knees. He thrilled to the sound of his own barking and exulted in his fierce growls. Yes, he was the best dog in the whole world.

Then it was over and he was going down quietly to the audience. He carried the dog mask that Miss Bates had given him. Yes, as he wriggled through to his parents, he could see they were proud of him, just as he had hoped. But they kept laughing. Jimmy couldn't figure that out because his part had not been funny.

Another strange thing was that Mr. Stillman came over and shook hands as soon as the concert was over. "Sorry about the letter," he apologized, and grinned with small wrinkles around his eyes.

But the strangest thing of all was that Mrs. Dale bustled up quickly. "Please forgive me," she kept repeating.

"Of course," smiled Jimmy's mother, and her dimple appeared. Then all of them, Mr. Stillman, Mrs. Dale and her husband who was shrivelled like an old lemon, came over to his house. His mother and dad served them tea, in the best cups, too.

"Yes," exclaimed his mother, "Jimmy can have some lunch, too, as a special treat for an actor."

Cut Man Labor
Farmers in the cash-grain area of Illinois are today producing a bushel of corn with six minutes of man labor, whereas 30 years ago it required 32 minutes.

New Fiber Product
A new fiber product, called keratin, may help utilize the 175 million pounds of chicken feathers said to go to waste each year.

Hybrids Prove Worth
Hybrid corn strains have shown 15 to 20 per cent gains over open-pollinated varieties during the past

Finger Foods
Children like "finger foods," such as carrot strips and celery curls, in their lunch boxes. Another suggestion is a shredded vegetable salad. It may be prepared as usual, then rolled tightly in a cabbage leaf. Fasten with a toothpick. Then wrap in waxed paper, twisting the ends. To eat the salad, the child untwists one end of the paper, removes the toothpick, and holds the closed end tightly as he eats.

Amber Talisman
From and during prehistoric times wearing amber was considered a potent charm against disease and many kinds of ill fortune. According to some authorities this belief in the potency of amber as a charm is a survival from the time of widespread sun worship when the yellow color and general aspect of amber suggested that it might partake of the divine nature of the sun.

Sunshiny City
Phoenix, Ariz., receives between 80 and 90 per cent of all possible sunshine, more than any other section of the country.

Rabbit Shelter
Old groundhog holes make the best shelters for rabbits during the winter for they show relatively little variation in temperature.

Area of Sharpest Vision
The yellow spot of the retina of the human eye, the area of sharpest vision, was discovered by Soemmering in 1816.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our kind neighbors, friends, and all who so willingly expressed sympathy occasioned by the death of my wife and our mother. Especially do we thank the singer, pall-bearers, organist, and Rev. Anderson for his comforting words.

CARL MAYER,
MELVIN and JANICE

Mrs. Joe Andree and Mrs. G. Moser attended the Food show at the Chicago Amphitheatre Wednesday and the Truth or Consequences program.

Mrs. John Swisher left Wednesday to accompany her friend Mrs. T. Price to her home in Portland, Oregon. Later she and Mrs. Price will spend the summer in Mrs. Price's home in the mountains at Washugal, Washington.

Norman Barr, son of Mrs. Mamie Barr of Tinley Park, returned home Tuesday from St. Bernard's hospital, Chicago, where he underwent an operation the previous week.

The Tinley Park Methodist church will hold a Roast Beef supper May 8 in the church dining room. Serving will be from 5 to 8 p. m. Included in the menu will be home made bread.

TINLEY PARK GARDEN CLUB

The Tinley Park Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Catherine Werth Thursday afternoon April 17 with Mrs. Florence Anderson, vice-president presiding, in the absence of the president, Mrs. Leila Moss. Mrs. Anderson opened the meeting with the reading of a poem called "Club." Roll call showed 14 members present and one guest Mrs.

Ava Funk. All the members who had attended the flower show at the International amphitheatre in March gave a report on the various things that interested them personally, which proved to be highly interesting to those who did not attend the flower show. Mrs. Anleron also told a little about her trip to Florida and had a display at this meeting of various bits of plants, leaves, nuts, and blossoms she brought back from Florida. The "Happy Birthday" song was sung for Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. Baldwin. The award for the day was won by Mrs. Anderson. Mrs. Swisher was unable to be at this meeting, but sent the program she had arranged as follows: "A Friendly Street," by Mrs. Anderson, "My Neighbor" by Mrs. Baldwin, "Da Spreng" by Mrs. Clark, "Seed Catalogue" by Mrs. Smith. This was "exchange day" at the Garden Club and everyone went home with a "slip" or a plant of some kind which members had brought for exchange. The next meeting of the Tinley Park Garden Club will be held at the home of Edna Clark in Mokena on Thursday, May 15—Edna Clark, Publicity Chairman.

ST. PAUL'S LUTHERAN CHURCH

FRANKFORT

Mrs. F. J. Kohlhaagen

The newly organized children's choir of St. Peter's church sang for the first time Sunday morning during the service.

The Rev. Erich Bizer and William Hansen attended the annual meeting of the Children's home in Bensonville, Wednesday.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

We Got to the Fish Fry After All

That community fish fry was sure a great success. There were plenty of appetizing extras, and Will Dudley did a right wonderful job of frying the fish—soft and flaky inside—brown and crisp around the edges.

But we didn't get to go. The missus was tired after working in the yard, and we just didn't want to leave her.

Then how did we know the fish was so good? Because the folks didn't forget us. They sent Skippy Henderson over with two steaming covered plates of fish, and a pitcher of cool, sparkling beer. And we finished them off in front of our own fire.

From where I sit, that's one of the things that makes our town so nice a place to live in: a spirit of share and share alike. That plate of fish and glass of beer weren't just great eating, they were symbols of the thoughtfulness that makes for better living!

Why Waste Good Plant Food?

• Does your soil have "dry pockets" where crop-producing manure has not been placed? Correct this with the accurate, even spreading of the McCormick-Deering No. 200-F Tractor Spreader—it carries all the fluid manure onto the fields.

All three McCormick-Deering Spreader models give you full value from your manure with their fine shredding and even flow to the beater.

Mrs. Burton Gillette left Thursday afternoon for Peoria, where she visited with relatives and attended the state Parent-Teachers Association teachers convention. Mrs. Bernarr Scheeler, representing the local P. T. A. of our district No. 122, also attended the convention. She left Joliet with the special train Friday morning. Mrs. Scheeler is the newly elected president of the P. T. A. for this coming year.

The New Lenox Woman's Bowlers league held its annual sweepstakes night last Wednesday evening in the local alleys. Winning team of this 1946-1947 seasons bowling was the Wilbur Walsh service station team; the members: captain, Mary Miller, Lillian Walsh, Frances Tauber, Marge Allen and Ann Wondrasek. Following up the winners were Weber dairy team, New Lenox recreation, New Lenox Lumber, Bruns tavern, and New Lenox or state bank teams. According to Helen Troughton, president of the league, the annual banquet will be held for members of the league at the Sherwood dining room May 14 at 7 o'clock.

Mrs. B. F. Konopack, Bruce road, Lockport, was the guest speaker at the New Lenox Garden club meeting held May 1 at the home of Mrs. Fred Scheel. Mrs. Robert Regan was the assisting hostess.

Don't forget the spring dance to be held Saturday night May 3 at the local gym, given by the Grace Episcopal church. Dancing will be held from 9 until 12 o'clock, and there will be refreshments.

Mrs. Fleetah Albrecht has returned to her home here after spending three weeks in southern Illinois caring for her mother, who has been seriously ill.

Miss Velva Frantz of Chicago spent the weekend here with her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Ewing and family.

Miss Caroline Bentley, who has been seriously ill in her home, is somewhat improved and able to be up some.

The Young Woman's group of the local W.S.C.S. of the Methodist church met in the parsonage Tuesday night at 8 o'clock. Mrs. Charles Werner and Mrs. Eugene McGovney were hostesses. Mrs. Len Warning, president, conducted the business meeting, and Mrs. Max Harding gave the secretary's and treasurer's reports. Plans were made to hold meetings on the fourth Tuesday of each month. Mrs. Beatrice Hollenberg, Mrs. James Roberson, and Mrs. Walter Gougar Jr. were appointed to get the material for the new altar cloths. Mrs. Glenn Donaldson gave a topic lesson on "Seven Reasons Why Scientists Believe in God." Material was distributed for the making of aprons for the fall sale and bazaar. The next meeting will be held May 27 at the home of Mrs. Harlow Jensen, with Mrs. Hallenberg assisting hostess.

There was no school held here Monday because of visiting day for the teachers. This Friday will be step-up day for the eighth grade pupils, and they will visit the various high schools to gather ideas about the courses they will carry.

Mrs. Charles O. Ellis and son Charles Jr. left last week for a three weeks visit in Dothan, Ala., with her sister, Mrs. T. L. Gaylord and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Len Anderson and Dale, accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Dewey Ruettiger, motored to Saugatuck, Mich., where they spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Wish Walsh. Dotie Jean Anderson, who has been visiting with her grandparents, returned home with her parents.

Miss Nora Lydon returned home Wednesday from St. Joseph's hospital, where she underwent surgery recently.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Scherpe of Chicago, who recently returned from spending the winter in Florida, spent a few days here recently with Mrs. Anna Bethell.

The New Lenox Business Men's Association met Wednesday night in St. Jude's Church dining room, for their dinner and meeting.

St. Jude's Altar society held its meeting April 22 in the church dining room. Mrs. Edna Cutler and Mrs. Ann Dronney were hostesses.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Ann Smith conducted the business meeting. Secretary's and treasurer's reports were given by Mrs. Cele Rilly. The annual election of officers took place and resulted as follows: President Mrs. Marge Carnahan, vice president Mrs. Fern Brown, secretary Mrs. Edna Cutler, and treasurer Mrs. Ellen Lerclon. Plans were also discussed for the St. Jude's carnival to be held Sunday July 13. This is the annual picnic and dinner usually held in August, the date being set up a little earlier. At the conclusion of the meeting refreshments were served. Lillian Huttonhoff was awarded the special prize. Hostesses for next meeting will be Evelyn Arends and Beatrice Tarrant.

The Woman's Guild of Grace Episcopal Church will meet Thursday afternoon May 8 in the home of Mrs. Ted Rowsell. Members are asked to bring gifts that Deaconess Ruth Parsons can use in her work.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stellwagon and son Neil have moved from their apartment into the home recently vacated by Mr. and Mrs. Budd Houk, who moved to Ludington, Mich.

The annual mother-daughter banquet given by the Woman's Society of the Trinity Lutheran church will be held May 7 at the church.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Weber and daughter Mitzie moved Saturday to Chicago. Mitzie will spend some time with Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Boynton and family while she finishes her schooling here this year.

Mrs. Hubert Ewing and Miss Velva Frantz motored to Danville last Wednesday, where they visited with Miss Lucille Carter, who is a surgical patient in St. Elizabeth's hospital there.

Ronald Chesmore suffered a broken arm while roller skating last week.

The New Lenox unit of Home Bureau met Friday afternoon at 1:30 in the home of Mrs. Ed Stevens, with Mrs. Elmer Seivert as co-hostess. Plans were made for the antique and hobby show to be held in Joliet May 1. Mrs. Castle, home advisor, gave the major lesson on landscaping. Roll call was answered to "what our donation will be toward the farm store" at the hobby show. Mrs. Castle also showed slides on landscaping. There were 27 members present. Plans were being made for a bakery sale to be given Saturday May 10 at the O'Daniel drug store. Refreshments were served tray style by the hostesses. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Walter Gougar Sr., with Mrs. Walter Gougar Jr. assisting hostess.

Little Dick Henry celebrated his sixth birthday anniversary Saturday afternoon, when his mother entertained several of his little friends at a party for him. Games were played and prizes were won by Georgie Dowle and Louis DeLine. Refreshments were served at a very pretty table centered with a birthday cake. Favors were also given to each guest present. Those attending were Dick and Judy Henry, Donald Snow, George Dowle, Teddy Fairbairn, Gene Fairbairn, Louis DeLine, Mrs. J. Morgan, Mrs. Elizabeth Stull of New Lenox, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Henry from Lafayette, Ind.

A large crowd attended the annual fish fry given by the local Sportsman club in Emiley hall Saturday night.

An Automatic Barn-Cleaner!

Saves You Time and Back-Breaking Work. Makes the Dairy Barn Clean as a Whistle in a Few Minutes.

↑ To the Farmer's Rescue again comes the tireless farm chore motor—this time to power the automatic barn-cleaner which carries the manure through the gutters, up and outside into the spreader.

↑ From One Gutter the manure falls into a drag-line which carries it directly to the spreader. At no point does the barn-cleaner interfere with the livestock.

Not a Shovel or Fork—In Sight! Yet the manure spreader outside is being loaded—and fast! The barn-cleaner can do in minutes automatically what it might take a man hours to do manually.

You've wished and waited for years to see the day when a really workable barn-cleaning system would come along. You've wondered why something hasn't been done to remove the drudgery and time-waste associated with this daily chore. Here, at last is the answer. A time-tested and proven barn-cleaner that has been in trouble-free operation for several years. Now it is available... ready to be quickly installed in your new or old barn... ready to save you one to two hours of hard work every day, depending upon the size of your herd.

Plan now to get the complete story of this "push-button" barn-cleaner. Simply 'phone or drop a card to your electric company's nearest store or office. Your Public Service Farm Representative or local dealer will gladly give you all the installation and cost information you want. No obligation, of course, so get in touch with him today.

MOKENA

Funeral services were held Tuesday morning in Chicago for Margaret Mary Cappel, five year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Cappel, who died in her home last Saturday morning. The little girl had not been well for about a year. Beside her parents, she is survived by a sister Sheila and a brother, 4 months old; also her grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Cappel of Mokena.

Mrs. Harry Mall entertained the pinochle club in her home Thursday afternoon.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Hamilton in St. Luke's hospital in Chicago last Friday.

The Mokena Men's Bowling team closed their season with a steak dinner at Schrage's Tuesday evening. Mayor Everett Cooper was master of ceremonies for the program which followed the eats. Jimmy Fassett entertained with slight-of-hand tricks, as did also the M.C. The winning team was Robinson's tavern. Prize money was distributed.

The Mokena Girls' Bowling team brought their season to a close with a dinner also at Schrage's last Tuesday evening. Games were played and prizes awarded. The winners. Also prize money for the year. The winning team was the Vertex Clutch, headed by Rita Sorenson as captain with Mrs. Eleanor Brownlee, Mrs. Fern Patterson, Mrs. Inez Werner and Colletta McMahon as team members. Officers elected for the fall and winter season are: president, Mrs. Walter Yunker, secretary, Mrs. Fred Werner and treasurer, Mrs. Alvin Sorenson.

Miss Mary Jones, the visiting nurse in this section left the Will County Health department May 1st to take further studies at the university of Minnesota.

Mrs. Nels Sorenson who had been ill with pneumonia in Silver Cross, returned home last Monday and is slowly improving.

Miss Adeline Semmler and her Sunday School class of the Methodist church bowled at the New Lenox Recreation in New Lenox Sunday afternoon. Attending beside Miss Semmler were: Audrey Neithammer, Joyce Werner Jo Ann Rueckert and Shirley Bennett.

The 4-H club met at Miss Mary Anna Rinke's April 29. Mrs. Laurence Kohl our leader, instructed the club in making seams. There were demonstrations given by Joyce Schiek on how to make different kind of seams and Jo Ann Rueckert on how to make button holes on a sewing machine. There were short talks given on accident prevention. After the business meeting there was dancing and refreshments were served.

Albert Hamilton of New Lenox spent last Saturday and Sunday with Donald Helenhouse.

Mrs. Alma Schultz underwent surgery last Friday in a Chicago hospital. Her mother, Mrs. Dath of Chicago, is staying in her home in her absence.

Chuck Egerton of Evansville, Ind., spent last week end with relatives and friends in Mokena, his former home.

Mrs. Frederick Whitlark and a delegation of seven members of the Women's Guild of St. John's church attended the Mokena Regional rally at Papineau, Tuesday.

Guests of Rev. and Mrs. William Riemann were Mrs. A. F. Meyer of Alden, Iowa, missionary on furlough from India, Rev. Carl Meyer and family of Chicago, John Meyer of Elmhurst college and Dorothy and Marilyn Riemann of Chicago.

GIRL SCOUT NEWS

April 24, 1947

The regular meeting was held in the school and was devoted to presenting badges and presentation of the troop flag and other business.

The Girl Scouts want to thank the Mokena Civic Association for the uniforms; first-aid kit; water canteen, and especially for their troop flag. This was presented to the scouts at this meeting. This is the first time the Mokena Girl Scouts have had a troop flag and they are very proud indeed to possess one at last.

The following badges were presented: Marianne Whitlark, bird finder, salt water life finder, outdoor cook, cyclist, garden flower finder, fresh water life finder; Betty Beagley, Musician, world knowledge, outdoor cook, land animal finder; Audrey Neithammer, home nursing, world knowledge, outdoor cook, land animal finder; Joyce Werner, home nursing, outdoor cook; Joyce Cummons, dancer, home nursing; Juanita Bruser, reader, junior citizen; Mildred Zika, dancer. Secondclass badge was given to Audrey Neithammer, Marianne Whitlark and Betty Beagley. —Betty Beagley, publicity.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCHES

The subject of the Lesson-Sermon in all Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday, April 27, was:

"PROBATION AFTER DEATH"

The Golden Text was:

"If in this life only we have hope in Christ, we are of all men most miserable. But now is Christ risen from the dead, and become the first fruits of them that slept" (1 Cor. 15: 19, 20).

Among the citations which comprised the Lesson-Sermon was the following from the Bible:

"Behold, I shew you a mystery; We shall not all sleep, but we shall all be changed. In a moment, in the twinkling of an eye, at the last trump . . . So when this corruptible shall have put on incorruption, and this mortal shall have put on immortality, then shall be brought to pass the saying that is written: Death is swallowed up in victory" (1 Cor. 15: 51, 52, 54).

ENDERS, MARY—In loving memory of our dear mother and grandmother who passed away May 3rd, 1939. Eight years ago your spirit flew to higher realms more work to do. While we on earth in our small way are carrying on the plans you made. We hope from heaven you see us, dear. For we love to feel that you are near.

Orland Park exceeded its quota for the Red Cross campaign according to announcement made by the chairman, Mrs. S. S. Knox, representing $362.92 having been turned in to the Chicago chapter. This remittance represents 120.97 per cent of the assigned quota. Thanks and appreciation to all who contributed to the campaign and to the volunteer workers, Mrs. Earl Reish, Mrs. Karl Ekberg, Mrs. Robert Horn, Mrs. Alma Rauch, Mr. Elmer Newton, and Mrs. Elsie Yunker. Laurel Camp No. 1796 RNA held its meeting Thursday evening, April 24 in the home of Mrs. Olive Loebe. The neighbors made plans to hold memorial services at the next meeting and to place flags on graves of departed members before Memorial Day. After the business session a few rounds of buncos were enjoyed, prizes awarded, and refreshments served by the hostess committee, Olive Loebe and Lillian Knox.

Mr. and Mrs. William Lang and son were able to spend Easter Sunday in their new home on Keane Avenue south of 159th street. While their home was being built the Langs lived with Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wheeler.

WHY AUTO PREMIUMS ARE MORE

Here's why an increase in automobile insurance rates is necessary.

1. Bodily injury claim costs have risen as a result of a 30% increase in automobile accident deaths, rural accidents showing a 48% increase. Bodily injury claims are averaging 40% more than in 1941 because of loss of high wages and accelerated medical and hospitalization costs.

2. Property damages and collision claims are likewise mounting. Repair costs are up at least 35%, closely following the upward trend in general living costs. Wages of mechanics are high and repair parts are still scarce and costly.

3. Although 15 million of the 27 million cars on the road should be replaced with new autos, the 1946 output of new cars totals only about and members are urgently requested to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. W.D. Ashton of Gary, Ind., were weekend guests of the William Davidsons.

Mr. and Mrs. David Lockwood of New Lenox spent Saturday evening at the card and buncos party in Ann Rutledge school.

St. Wilfred's church will give a buncos party Saturday evening May 3 at 7:30 in the Boze basement, 79th and Lincoln highway.

Larry Vaughn was awarded a handsome traveling bag at the Ann Rutledge card and buncos party Saturday evening.

Al Boze and Leroy Heavener attended the school survey meeting Thursday evening at Joliet.

Saturday evening at the Ann Rutledge school the Rev. William Riemann of Mokena made the presentation of the Boy Scout troop charter and the investiture of the 10 Boy Scouts troop No. 69. Mr. Riemann also gave the insight of the Boy Scout's duties to the community; to do a good deed every day is the Scout's motto. The Scouts were very proud when their scoutmaster, Robert Loyd, called each Scout forward to show his particular ropetieing feat and also telling the name of their ropetie.

That Nagging Backache

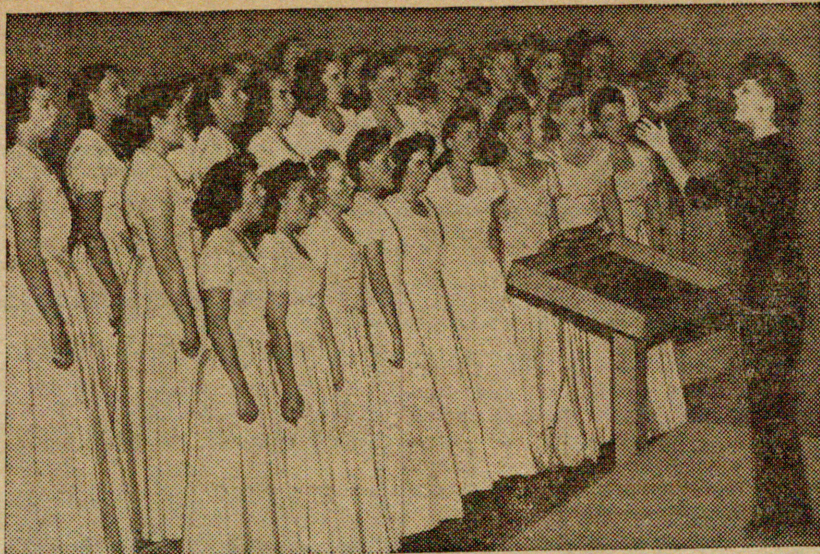

May Warn of Disordered Kidney Action

Modern life with its hurry and worry, irregular habits, improper eating and drinking—its risk of exposure and infection—throws heavy strain on the work of the kidneys. They are apt to become over-taxed and fail to filter excess acid and other impurities from the life-giving blood.

You may suffer nagging backache, headache, dizziness, getting up nights, leg pains, swelling—feel constantly tired, nervous, all worn out. Other signs of kidney or bladder disorder are sometimes burning, scanty or too frequent urination.

Try Doan's Pills. Doan's help the kidneys to pass off harmful excess body waste. They have had more than half a century of public approval. Are recommended by grateful users everywhere. Ask your neighbor!

DOAN'S PILLS

THERE'S MUSIC IN THE AIR . . . Typical of the many musical events which will be staged throughout the country during National Music Week was this outdoor concert presented under auspices of the Choral and Instrument Music association of Chicago.

HIGH NOTE

Annual Observance Stimulates Interest in Musical Activities

WNU Features.

From unrehearsed hymn sings in small rural communities to elaborate musical festivals in larger cities, music will fill the air during the week of May 4 to 11 as more than 2,500 communities throughout the country join in observance of National Music Week.

Intended to stimulate greater year-round interest in music and music education, National Music Week has been observed since 1924. In previous years, various communities had sponsored their own programs at unspecified times.

Although the keynote for Music Week is set by a central Music Week committee, with headquarters in New York, actual programs are entirely in the hands of local committees and individual workers. The central committee, however, is available for guidance and information.

Stimulate Interest.

The only idea actively promoted by the central committee is that the week be utilized for activity calculated to benefit year-round growth in musical interest. They believe that a period in which people are made more conscious of the value of music to the individual and to the community should serve as a time of enjoyment through making and hearing music, and as a stimulus to musical projects for young and old.

Many projects designed to aid veterans will be promoted as features of the 1947 observance. In some cities these will take the form of scholarships and educational opportunities generally; in others musical equipment for servicemen's centers and hospitals; in still others concert appearances for the especially talented. Local Music Week committees also will provide musical programs for patients in veterans' hospitals.

Another interest which will gain through the Music Week observance is "living war memorials" (notably buildings with acoustics for musical performances). In the larger cities such memorials are more likely to take the form of concert halls and auditoriums, and in the smaller places band shells and bandstands for outdoor use.

Churches Cooperate.

For many years churches have marked the opening Sunday of Music Week with sermons on music and religion, and with special programs by organists and choirs. Increasingly there is a trend toward inter-church and inter-denominational services. The closing Sunday, which coincides with Mothers Day, is frequently the occasion of musical events in honor of mothers.

To indicate the wide extent and variety of local observances, the Music Week committee cites a few examples culled from the 1946 records.

In one of the most elaborate observances, Los Angeles, Calif., staged a week-long series of programs under municipal auspices. Leading event was a music festival at Hollywood Bowl featuring a youth chorus of 700 voices. A school music festival entitled "America Sings," the premiere concert by a civic orchestra, concerts by the police, county and selected high school bands, and a program by a combined women's chorus were other highlights.

Baltimore, Md., also gave a prominent part to youth in its observance. A "Children's Prayer for Peace" program was marked by participation of youngsters from the Chinese, Jewish, Negro, French, Norwegian, Russian and other colonies.

Stage 274 Programs.

Under cooperative auspices of the local Business and Professional Women's clubs and the playground and recreation commission, Alton, Ill., observed Music Week with a total of 274 programs.

Vigilantes Now Seek Dummy Nags

WASECA, MINN. — Times have changed since the Waseca County Horse Thief Detectives association was organized to rid the county of horse thieves in the late 1880s.

Now the society, preparing for its annual meeting, had to seek a dummy horse, the kind that harness makers use. The horse was required to instruct new members in how to put on a saddle and other such techniques. Old-timers feel at its local symphony orchestra concerts was conducted in Springfield, Ohio, during the week.

Despite the achievements in the larger centers, however, it is in the smaller communities that the main strength of the Music Week movement lies. There are between 2,000 and 3,000 communities of less than 5,000 population that almost yearly mark the occasion in some worthwhile way.

Because of its median size and long history as a participant, Paris, Tex., is cited as an example of the smaller towns which stage unusual and effective programs.

The 1946 observance there began with an inter-denominational hymn festival led by joint choirs of several churches. Excerpts from an operetta by a school choral club provided the entertainment for the Parent-Teachers association meeting. The high school band gave a demonstration for Rotary club, and the public library included in its special display of books on music a scrapbook history of the local Music Study club. Posters submitted in a contest for upper grade children were hung in store windows and awards to the members were memberships in the Civic Music association.

Texas Paradise Stays Crimeless For Four Years

SARITA, TEX.—Surrounded by a sparsely-populated area, Sarita is gaining recognition as the crimeless section of Texas.

That distinction results from the fact that not a single crime has been recorded in the last four years. District court sessions consist merely of selection of jurors, who never are used.

"Nothing much has happened in the 33 years I've been here," insists District Clerk Nettie P. Woods. "We didn't have a divorce last year and I don't think we'll have one this year," she adds. No case of juvenile delinquency ever has been recorded in the county.

"I guess snakes give us more trouble than anything," the clerk says.

Births, deaths and marriages are the only newsworthy events in the county, in her opinion. There is no state old age assistance, no formal charity and during the depression of the 30s there was no WPA.

No 'Close Shaves'

TULSA, OKLA. — Customers cannot get a shave in the "Big 9" barber shop. The shop, despite its name, is so narrow that its chairs cannot be laid back for customers to recline, so its barber concentrates on cutting hair.

Horse on You

COVINGTON, KY. — Cow punching has been added to duties of Campbell county police. In a single week police were called upon to corral 20 stray steers which wandered from their pasture, to capture a rampaging bull and to take charge of two wandering cows.

BASEBALL'S new season has opened. This will be the 47th April (barring only the April of 1918), that has found us in the look-out, peering at the eager athletes below, on their way to gold, glory or the bushes.

Grantland Rice

The flowers that bloom in the spring still look wilted in comparison to those who happen to follow the old game. It's a long look back to the rookie days of Ty Cobb, Tris Speaker, Hal Chase, Mathewson and Alexander, but as the veterans move out, the gaps are always filled.

They come and go—but on their way New stars blow in with dash and thrust.

Tomorrow is another day Where yesterday is under dust.

This new season, for some reason, is packed with high spots in the way of public interest, high spots that in many cases will quiver and sag before spring has moved into summer.

The first high spot brings up the pursuit of the Cardinals and Red Sox. Will they be able to survive the 154-game chase and meet again in the next world series? This is the way it looks today. They were the two best teams in baseball last season and they look to be the two best in baseball this season. Both look to have the better ball players and this is a big part of the answer. Any rival team that beats either out will have to show about 40 per cent more than said team has shown so far.

The Pennant Race

Another high spot is fan interest. What about the Brooklyn Dodgers? Where will they finish? How many games will Pete Reiser play?

Will the Yankees or the Tigers finish closer to the Red Sox? The Tigers have the better pitching—possibly the best in baseball. The Yankees have good pitching. Both infields are uncertain. So are both outfields. They should run 2-3, with little to choose.

What about Bob Feller? Feller put in 11 months of pitching through 1946. The Cleveland star, one of the game's greatest, has given his right arm a rougher beating than any right or left arm ever took before in one year. Feller will be a marvel if this strain doesn't affect his work.

Who will be the most improved ball player of the year? My guess is Joe Gordon, who fell away in fielding and dropped to .210 in 1946. Working with Lou Boudreau, the Oregon acrobat is due for a big rebound. Boudreau and Gordon at short and second should match Marion and Schoendienst of the Cardinals, plus Pesky and Doerr of the Red Sox. Or Reese and Stanky of the Dodgers.

What will Ted Williams hit? In the course of his big league career, Williams' batting average is around .352. He is one of the game's greatest natural hitters. He is packed with ambition. My guess for the tall swinger is in the close vicinity of .360, with an output of some 40 home runs.

Who will be the season's leading pitcher in games won? You don't have to crawl too far out on a waving limb to name Hal Newhouse. With the Red Sox or Cardinals, this left-hander would be up above 30 winners.

Who Will Be Last?

What two teams will finish last? The Athletics seem to have the A. L. cellar leased for another season, with the rent paid in advance. The race in the National league for the bottom of the snake pit should be much more spectacular. Those mentioned for this unallowed spot include the Reds, Pirates, Phillies and Giants. The Giants are the defending sub-champions. With Mize and Cooper back they are sure to be stronger. But their pitching is little better. The Pirates, with Greenberg, will be improved. So will the Phillies. The Reds are nothing to rave about. At the moment, the Reds seem to have the call.

What team has the strongest infield? We'll vote for the Cardinals, with Musial, Schoendienst, Marion and Kurowski, backed up by Cregar and Glaviano. Next best—the Red Sox.

Who will lead both leagues in hitting? Stan Musial is as good a guess as you can make now, with Ted Williams close. Williams will have the call in the matter of extra bases.

What team can be the pennant dark horse of the year? The Boston Braves, especially if Mort Cooper has an old-fashioned Cooper year. The Braves under Billy Southworth can be an upsetting outfit, replete with the cyanide touch. Cooper, in shape, is a great pitcher, not merely a good one.

The best rookie of the year? Keep an eye on Yogi Berra, the Yankees' latest fence buster. He is looked upon as one of the main Yankee hopes. Yogi came to the Yankees as a better than promising catcher. Then he was shifted to right field.

Mystery of Clouds

A scientific mystery which is yet to be solved is the reason why water droplets in certain clouds do not freeze when having a temperature several degrees below the freezing point.

JOLIET NURSING SCHOOL TESTS

Although 26 applicants passed pre-entrance tests for the August 1947 freshman class at the Silver Cross hospital school of nursing in Joliet in April, tests for additional applicants have been announced for Saturday, May 17. Because of the continuing shortage of graduate nurses, the nursing school hopes to enroll 50 students for its August class.

Interested high school graduates may obtain application blanks and full information about the nursing course and nursing as a career by addressing Director, School of Nursing, Silver Cross Hospital, Joliet.

Uncle Sam Says

This is a good story and it's about you, pop. The chapter I am reading is entitled "Security." It tells about your Payroll Savings, the easy, automatic way you are building up a comfortable nestegg for the future of yourself and your family. Best part of all, pop, is the fact that millions of my nieces and nephews have the same important place in this story of a happy future as yourself. They, too, are buying United States Savings Bonds regularly.

WATCH PASTURAGE

Last year at this time spring was much further along than it is now. Along with other things, pastures, in Illinois have been delayed—and that makes good pasture management even more important this year than usual. Here is a tip for dairymen from C. S. Rhode and J. G. Cash, of the University of Illinois college of agriculture. First, they say, it's wise to hold your cows off pasture until there is a good growth of forage. Dairymen who turn their cows on pasture before it is well started are likely to have poor pastures all summer unless the season is exceptionally favorable and the acreage per cow is large.

Annual Day was observed by the Tinley Park Woman's Club last Wednesday. Reports were given by officers and chairmen. Mrs. Omar Ebenhack was elected first vice president, Mrs. Charles Wallin, secretary. The Art department chairman, Mrs. Hilding Anderson, presented Phyllis Cosmos, the winner in the school art contest. An oil painting is the award given by the Third district of the Illinois Federation of Women's clubs to the winner in each school in the contest.

This painting hangs permanently in the Tinley Park school and is the 5th time Tinley Park has had a winner.

Mrs. Charles Nielsen, garden chairman, was awarded a blue ribbon for her display at the 3rd district meeting.

The State convention of the Illinois Federation will be held at Hotel Sherman May 19, 20 and 21. Mrs. Omar Ebenhack was appointed delegate with the president, Mrs. Herman Freitag. Mrs. Arthur Wagner is alternate delegate.
